Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 24 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cold with wintry showers, turning wetter into the week.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any remaining wintry showers to the south soon clear to give a clear, dry and frosty night. Later, low cloud approaches from the north west and gives scattered showers along the western coast, giving sleet or snow in places. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Monday:
A frosty start with some lingering freezing fog, particularly to the north. Some scattered wintry showers move inland, while cloud clears for others to give some brighter spells. Remaining cold. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cloudy and wet Tuesday, turning heavier into the night, and wintry over any hills. Drier Wednesday day, before further rain, locally heavy arrives in the night and continues into Thursday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.